

NEW LOCAL LAW COMMENCEMENT – ADVERTISING DEVICES – REAL ESTATE SIGNAGE

When do the new local law signage requirements come into effect?

The local law requirements for advertising devices (signage) came into effect on 28 February 2020 for temporary advertising devices.

With the commencement of the Noosa Plan 2020 on 31 July 2020, the local law requirements will now apply to both temporary and permanent advertising devices.

Note: Due to the impacts of Covid-19, a transition period of is in place until 28 August 2021 to allow businesses with existing signage time to comply with the new requirements.

Within the transition period all real estate signs will need to comply with the new local law requirements. These include:

- for sale or lease signs
- open for inspection / auction signs
- real estate directional signs

What are the requirements for real estate signs under the new local law?

Open for inspection day

A maximum of 2 real estate signs can be used per premises on open for inspection or auction days. These include:
