

For use by land developers
Road Naming:

A name will be:

1. Relevant to Australian, preferably local, history, flora, fauna, culture, landscape or physical characteristics; and
2. Only one word, excepting personal names and understanding that a geographic relationship such as Cooroy Mountain is permissible; and
3. Sensitive to diverse cultures and in accordance with community standards. The use of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander names will be governed by the ANZLIC Committee on Surveying & Mapping Guidelines for the Consistent Use of Place Names 2012; and
4. In the style and spelling of contemporary Australian English, concise, easy to pronounce and spell and without accent marks, apostrophes or hyphens.
5. Names that may be construed as advertising a commercial or industrial enterprise are not suitable.
6. If personal names are used, the person commemorated should:
 - a) Have contributed significantly to the development of the locality or region; or
 - b) Have demonstrated outstanding levels of civic service; or
 - c) Have achieved role-model status in the wider community or have donated property or funds for community benefit.
7. Road names should be unique within the area north of the Maroochy River and single destination, eg Eumundi Road, not Eumundi Noosa Road.
8. Road types will be in accordance with the Manual of Uniform Traffic Control Devices.
9. Council approval of new road names is required before a plan for subdivision is lodged.
